

JunglePay: How to keep a secret.

Anonymous Billing. Don't share on the internet.

No forms to fill out. Well with SMS and Phone payments, this means you will never be asked for your credit card number or any other personal information. After all, the best way to protect yourself from online fraud is to keep your secrets... well, secret. Because even though companies use the newest and fanciest "256-bits symmetric SSL crypto certificates" and other technological mumbo jumbo, stealing a credit card number is still as simple as handing it over to a waiter in a 'trustworthy' restaurant; or a 'secure' web site, for that matter.

So we set out to challenge the very fundamentals of credit card theft: we just leave out the thing that can be stolen. The card itself; the number; even the cash. So store away your credit card, your bank account number and any other personal information; you won't ever need them to pay with us.

Mobile phone payment options have been hailed by some as one of the best new options as far as credit card and cash transactions are concerned.

Billing through Phone and SMS has increasingly become a vital tool used by companies in the customer service industry, by banks, and by other financial companies. Mobile Phone payment options are seen as new and additional ways to stop billing headaches before they even happen and also as convenient billing options for both the customer and the merchant.

JunglePay is an online payment solution that allows you to purchase online using nothing more than your mobile phone, with SMS and / or Phone Billing.

Secure payment. No sign up required... No bank account or credit card needed... No financial details or personal information required.
